What is Trichology?

Trichology is the scientific study of hair. It involves the diagnosis and treatment of disorders and diseases of the hair, scalp and beard area. The origin of this discipline began in London England in 1902.

What a Clinical Trichologist does

Hair is a very sensitive "barometer" of imbalances in the body: including poor nutrition, stress, prescription medications and systemic problems which can affect the hair, skin and nails.

The clinical trichologist is trained to identify the causes and to treat problems where possible.

The Trichologist is trained to use several ways to diagnose the causes of hair disorders. These methods include analyzing the hair microscopically, analyzing the mineral levels in the hair or using the results of blood tests. There are over 75 potential causes of alopecia; some conditions may be treated externally while some require internal treatment.

THE COURSES

The Recognition of Prior Learning

This is for anyone who has been introduced to Trichology or a certified trichologist who want to be clinically certified.

The assessment will be done in Jamaica under the supervision of Dr. Oates in collaboration with IAT.

The assessment of prior learning acknowledges skills and knowledge obtained through formal training (conducted by industry or recognized educational institutions.

Course Cost:

Assessment fee $300 USD
Final exam fee $300 USD

If additional clinical training is required, IAT will, at a fee, provide same through one of its certified clinics such as Tricho-therapy Hair Centre.
